Invite Republican Senators to State Their Preferences.

SOME LOFTY ASPIRATIONS

New Senators Long for Important Committee Assignments and Some Want Chairmanships Senator Mc Millan Preparing Schedules-The Steering Committee's Problem.

Senator McMillan, chairman of the committee on committees of the Republican caucus, will send out letters today to all the Republican Senators, asking them to designate the committees on which they would prefer to serve. This action was in pursuance of a resolution adopted by the committee at its meeting yesterday, and It is about the only positive progress that has yet been made by the Republicans in their undertaking of Senate reorganization.

Of course their is no expectation that the steering committee can by any possibility place all the Senators just where they would like to be, even granting that the erats and Populists would offer no obstacles whatever to the work of the mnattee. But it is believed that the information will be exceedingly belpful alding the committee on committees to approximate a realization of the desires of the ambitious Senators. The ex-pectations of some of the new men are Several of them have already expressed a desire to be placed on Finance, Appropriations or Rules, and about all of them want chairmanships. There remains the same doubt as before as to the power of the Republicans to do may reorganizing at all. They certainly cannot do it if the opposition persists in its present attitude. It can only be the consent of the Democrats and Populists, and under these excumstances, of course, the reorganization must neces-sarily be so arranged as to take care of the opposition confortably.

Therefore, there is little importance in the elaborate work the committee or committees mave undertaken. The delails of reorganization will really be arranged by what is known as the Senate "family," and consists of Senators Allison, Aldrich and Gorman. Senator Allen is not a mem ber of this domestic circle, but he will b consulted,, and his views are imof the strongest third party that has had representation in the Senate for many

Years
The schedule, which is being prepared under the direction of Chairman McMillan is of value chiefly as an indication of de-sires of individual Republican Senators After the "reorganization" is effected, if a continuation of the sid proportionate representation by parties can be called a reorganization, it will serve as a general Index to the disamointments of Senators.

There is notik dihood that the Republicans can win in their desire to wrest chairman ships from Teller, Pettigrew and the other silver Republicans.

INSURANCE OF INFANTS.

A Pennsylvania Judge Decides That

It Is Blegal. Harrisburg, Pa., April 9.- in Pennsylvania there are thousands of life in-surance policies issued by New York and New Jersey mutual companies on infants, and this practice has been carried on for years Recently a mutual company in York, Pa., has been issuing the same kind of policies, and the State brought sait to mpel the company to show what right it had to insure minors.

The case was argued, and yesterday Judge McPherson handed down a decision n which he denies the right of infant insurance.

Judge McPherson regices the by-laws and the method of applying for and being received into membership into the associa-tion, and says: "Considering the obligations thus intended to be laid upon the applicant and member, we think there can be little mestion about the illegality of the infants' branch of defendant's business. It is absurd to permit a child of tender jears to o through the unmeaning form of making he contract required by the defendant, and it is a mere pretense for a parent or guardian to sign the infant's name, when the child has not mental power even to know he nature of that simple act.

Judgment of ouster is entered against the suing policies of insurance upon infants or persons below the age of twenty-one years. The association must may the costs. If this decision applies to New York and New Jersey companies, thousands of in-

THE CALL FOR A QUORUM.

Republicans Annoyed by Mr. Simpson's Obstructive Tactics.

The Republicans, who were spoken to ist night on the subject, were disposed to regard Mr. Simpson's threat to block Republican legislation in the House unless Mr. Reed would consent to appoint the nittees as a very unimportant menace Two of them said that the only effect of Mr. Simpson's scheme would be the personal aunoyance of Republicans by requiring them to report from day to day tend of every three days. So far as preventing legislation was concerned they said that, perhaps, that was a game the Democrats would not like to have played a them in that way if they returned to Besides, said one of them, the Republicans have absolute control of the House and will find means to legislate, even if they have to make laws and roles for any emergency.

Speaker Reed was called on and asked if he had anything to say about Mr. Ship-son's proposed obstruction tactics. The Speaker declined to discuss the matter

Report Thereon in Possession of Postmaster General.

Whispered in Postoffice Corridors That It Effects Several Employes and Will Lead to Dismissals.

Postmaster General Gary has in his posession the report rendered in the now famous stamp robbery case, made by Postoffice Inspectors John P. Clem. William B. Smith, Charles F. Lewis and Charles L Morris. It will be remembered that Colman testified on the stand that he got the stamps from Mrs. Munce, wife of Chief Munce, of the stamp division of the Postoffice Department.

There is a rumor along the corridors of the Postoffice building that several other employes of the department whose names have not as yet appeared in print are im-plicated, and that the report of the inspectors shows this so plainly that dismissals will follow.

The Postmaster General has been giving the report careful consideration, and it is unced that the report will be released for publication within a few days.

Nerve Waste and Nervous Exhaustion

General Debility, Nervous Prostration, Kervous Rebility, Spinal Weakness, Spinal Irritation, Rervous Dyspepsia, and All Affections of the Ner-

CURED BY Dr. Walker

The symptoms of nervous exhaustion are legion and have never yet been fully described. Sensitiveness to changes in the weather is a very common symptom of nervous debility, depression of the nerves makes the body a good barometer. For twenty-four hours and more before a storm comes on the aching and worn nerves forecell in every part of the physical organism what is coming. The sky may be clear, but the spirits are cloudy. The clear, but the spirits are cloudy. The sufferers, the general gloominess and minery of the exhausted before and during had weather are not inaginations, but reafflies, as truly as smallness or the mehiles and quite as much worthy of professional sludy and consideration. A person nervously exhausted is far more likely to be prostrated during the extreme heat of summer, and when once prostrated all his symptoms are made worse. Localized path, numbness in any portion of the body, with pricking in the face, the saries, the ends of the fingers, the thighs, the legs, and the toes amounts to a very distressing disease.

Several persons called at the Sixth pre cinct station morgue last night and viewed the body of the colored servant girl, whose death was caused by her ignorance of the nature of illuminating gas, but none o them were able to identify the girl. All that is known of her is that her name was Carrie, and that she lived somewhere on Thirdstreet. Wednesdaynight she answered an advertisement in The Times for a service 636 D street northwest, and was engaged to come the next morning. She worked during the day and retired at about 9 Yesterday morning her lifeless body was found in her room, which was filled with gas, which was still escaping at full headway from a jet a short dis tance from her bed. Mrs. Beck had in structed the girl to begin the household duties at 6 o'clock in the morning and when she did not come down an hour later, she went to her room, and discovered her dead. The girl was apparently about twenty years of age. She had lived but a short time in the city, and was unused to illuminating gas, and it is supposed that when retiring, instead of turning off the burner, she blew out the flame.

FOUND DANGLING BY THE NECK. Mrs. Ball, of Fairfax County, Hangs

Herself in a Barn.

Word was received at Alexandria yester day afternoon of the suicide of Mrs. Charles Hall, the wife of a well-known and presperous Fairfax county farmer, at her hom near Lorton station, Thursday afternoon The woman had shown no signs of de spondency, and it is supposed that she ended her life in a fit of incamity. She was about the house attending to herdomestic duties during the morning, and in the course of her work left the house, saying to her three children, who were playing in the yard, that she was going to the barnin search of eggs. Nothing was thought of this, as she had been in the habit of doing the same thing every day; but when she did not return after an hour or more one of her little boys started out to search for her, thinking that possibly she had met with some occident in the

The little fellow was hornfied at the sight of his mother's body dangling from a rafter in the hay loft. Mrs. Hall had evidently committed the deed shortly after reaching the barn, as her body was nearly cold when help arrived and she was cut down. She had procured a piece of halter and fastened it in a slipping noese about her neck. Then she had securely tied the other end to a rafter and stepped off a beam. Her neck was not broken and death was due to strangulation.

Neighbors were advised of the act and a physician was summoned, but could render no aid, as the woman-was pasthelp when found. Mrs. Hall was about forty years of age and leaves a husband and three bildren. Her father, Mr. Van Bavis, com mitted suicide in much the same man ner about five years ago, by hanging him self to a tree upon his farm in Fairfax county. An inquest was held yesterday by a local justice of the peace and a verdict of suicide was rendered in accordance with the above facts.

A Blow at Racing.

Madison, Wis., April 9.—Gov. Schoffeld has signed the Wylle anti-pool bill and it becomes a law upon publication. This set-ties all kinds of racing in Wisconsin for two years, at least, if the bill is strictly enforced. It is a blow at breeding inter ests as well. The decision of Gov. Scho field will prove a particularly severe blow for Chicago racing men, who had estab lished a great race track at Ideal Park forty-two miles from the Illinois metropo lis and just beyond the Wisconsin Stateline on the Wisconsin Central Railroad.
